

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA

Graduate Certificate in Crisis, Risk, and Disaster Communication

Graduate Certificate Program in Crisis, Risk, and Disaster Communication (CRDC)

This certificate aims to provide students with advanced knowledge, skills, hands-on experiences, and demonstrated competency in applying crisis, risk, and disaster communication theories and principles to manage challenging and complex crisis, risk, and disaster issues.

Requirements

All potential participants in the graduate CDRC certificate program must be graduate students currently enrolled at UGA or be able to show documentation of their acceptance for coursework at UGA.

Application Packet

1. Resume
2. Written statement of goals and purpose

Faculty Contact

Dr. Yan Jin, C. Richard Yarbrough Professor in Crisis Communication Leadership, yanjin@uga.edu

COURSEWORK

Level 1: Required Core Courses (6 credits)

JRMC 8170: Risk Communication
JRMC 8180: Crisis Communication and Strategic Conflict Management

Level 2 Option 1: Business Track (6 credits)

*MGMT 7011: Leading Evolving Organizations
RMIN 7010: Fundamentals of Risk Management
RMIN 7100: Fundamentals of Risk Management
LEGL 7500: Legal Risk: Management, Strategy, and Communication

Open to Terry College of Business students only*

Level 2 Option 2: Public Health Track (6 credits)

DMAN 7100: Introduction to Disaster Management
DMAN 7400: Public Health Crises and Disaster Management
DMAN 7450: Geographic Information Systems (GIS) and Disasters
DMAN 7650: Disaster Mental Health Overview

Total: 12 Credits

For More Information and to Apply: Contact Anne Hurne at anne.hurne@uga.edu

Grady College of Journalism and Mass Communication in Partnership with Terry College of Business & College of Public Health

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA

Graduate Certificate in Crisis, Risk, and Disaster Communication

Graduate Certificate Program in Crisis, Risk, and Disaster Communication (CRDC)

This certificate provides students with advanced knowledge, skills, hands-on experiences, and demonstrated competency in applying crisis, risk, and disaster communication theories and principles to manage challenging and complex crisis, risk, and disaster issues.

Grady College of Journalism and Mass Communication in partnership with
Terry College of Business & College of Public Health

Learn More
&
Apply

Choose Your Track: Business or Public Health

Capstone Experience with Industry Professionals

Grady, Terry, College of Public Health partnership

grady.uga.edu/CRDC

Questions?

Contact Anne Hurne: anne.hurne@uga.edu